
Choosing the Right Stage for Your Next Event

There are a number of considerations when choosing a stage for your next event.

The Right Stage

The right stage really sets the mood for your event. A professional event stage will help you showcase your talent, presenters, or other headliners.

Adding drama and flare to your event, a stage is a very important element. There are a few things that you need to determine before you choose what stage is right for you. How large do you want the stage to look? How much stage do you need?

For DJ performances, presentations, and demonstrations, you may want the stage to 'look' large, but not be large. If this is the case, you can choose a structure that is very large in appearance, with plenty of space for banners, graphics, and screens. You can also choose to make the stage very wide (left to right), but not very deep (from front to back).

Enhancing the Stage's Appearance

There are number of elements that you can add to your stage to enhance it's overall appearance. These elements include sound, lighting, video projection, rigging, décor and drapery equipment. We will put together a package for you that not only suits your event objectives, but also meets your timelines and budget.

Accessibility Concerns

Keep in mind that no matter what stage you choose, you should keep accessibility concerns in mind. You may require ramps, while ensuring that your event staging is supported with legs and braces that may be needed to accommodate the weight of your guests.

Safety First

Ensure that your a/v supplier is fully versed and experienced with stage set-up. There are a number of safety concerns, which must be taken into account when setting up a stage. An improperly supported stage can collapse under the weight of what it is holding.

Where you put your stage is extremely important as well. Outdoor locations require additional safety elements and need to be able to withstand the elements.

Plus, you have to remember that stages are often awkward and very heavy to maneuver. Hiring an experienced event stage provider like GavCom Media Productions can ensure that your stage is quickly set up and taken down, while ensuring it meets strict health and safety requirements.

GavCom Media Productions technicians are well-versed in stage set up and take down and can help you determine the stage that would best suit your needs for your event. Give us a call today to learn more about your options!
